Actress/Writer Molly Ringwald to Conduct Q&A with Simmons as Part of the November 1st Event

AUGUST 17, 2016 (NEW YORK, NY) — The International Center of Photography (ICP), the world's leading institution dedicated to photography and visual culture, will celebrate Laurie Simmons at the sixth annual ICP Spotlights, being held in New York City on Tuesday, November 1, 2016. Co-Chaired by Peggy Anderson and Debby Hymowitz, the benefit luncheon will feature an on-stage discussion between the honoree and iconic actress and author, Molly Ringwald.

"Laurie Simmons has been an important force within the photography world for more than four decades," says Mark Lubell, Executive Director of ICP. "Over the course of her career, she's created evocative and memorable images that offer a powerful critique of culture and photography. We're thrilled to honor her as this year's Spotlight's recipient."

ICP's Spotlights highlight the significant contributions of women in photography and film. Past honorees include Lauren Greenfield, Carrie Mae Weems, Mary Ellen Mark, Shirin Neshat, and Stephanie Sinclair, among others. Funds raised through the Spotlights event benefit ICP education and exhibition programs. ICP Spotlights tickets can be purchased per person or per table. Purchase tickets online or by calling 212.219.0111, ext. 7008 or emailing icp@stampeventco.com.

The Spotlights event caps off a transformative year for ICP. In summer 2016, the new ICP Museum opened at 250 Bowery with its inaugural exhibition, Public, Private, Secret—an exploration of the impact of photography and visual culture on privacy and self-identity.
