Yto Barrada: Part-Time Abstractionist May 22–September 2, 2024

NEW YORK, NY (March 26, 2024)—This summer, ICP will present a solo exhibition of work by internationally acclaimed multi-disciplinary artist, Yto Barrada. This 10-year survey of Barrada's photographic and film practice comprises over 40 works, nearly all of them unique, including new work exploring the space of the darkroom. Part-Time Abstractionist offers insight into the ways Barrada utilizes abstraction to examine the social, political, and industrial structures that have and continue to shape society.

A specific focus on play, childhood, and learning will course throughout the show, including works from found-object photogram series—Bonbon (2016-17), colorful, abstract works made with candy wrappers, Blockhead! Toy (2017), printed with a child's set of blocks, and Practice Piece (2017), contact prints of found sewing lessons. In acknowledgement of ICP's school and active darkroom classes, many of these series use alternative darkroom processes, including the more recent Dodge and Burn Tools (2021), which will also be on view.

Curator Elisabeth Sherman has remarked, “Barrada has kept a deep commitment to photography and image making throughout her career, while always questioning the boundaries of these categories and their relationship to painting, sculpture, craft and the unexplored origins of a modernist vocabulary. These investigations, coupled with her uncovering of hidden histories and their shaping of our present, make Barrada one of the most important artists of her generation.”

Yto Barrada: Part-Time Abstractionist is the first exhibition in a new series focusing on alumni of ICP’s school. Barrada graduated from ICP’s Full-Time Documentary program in 1996.

The exhibition is curated by Elisabeth Sherman, Senior Curator and Director of Exhibitions and Collections at ICP.

On view concurrently with Yto Barrada: Part-Time Abstractionist will be Shared Spaces: 2024 ICP Recent Graduates Exhibition and Selections from ICP at 50: From the Collection, 1845–2019.

About The International Center of Photography

The International Center of Photography (ICP) is the world's leading institution dedicated to photography and visual culture. Cornell Capa founded ICP in 1974 to champion “concerned photography”—socially and politically minded images that can educate and change the world. Through exhibitions, education programs, community outreach, and public programs, ICP offers an open forum for dialogue about the power of the image. Since its inception, ICP has presented more than 700 exhibitions, provided thousands of classes, and hosted a wide variety of public programs. ICP launched its new integrated center on Manhattan's Lower East Side in January 2020. Located at 79 Essex Street, ICP is the cultural anchor of Essex Crossing, one of the most highly anticipated and expansive mixed-use developments in New York City. ICP pays respect to the original stewards of this land, the Lenape people, and other Indigenous communities. Visit icp.org to learn more about the museum and its programs.
