International Center of Photography Announces One-Year Certificate Scholarship Awards

New York, NY (February 29, 2012) - The School of the International Center of Photography (ICP) has announced the 2011-2012 ICP One-Year Certificate Scholarship Award recipients. These students are pursuing certificates in Documentary Photography and Photojournalism or General Studies.

"We congratulate all of these outstanding students. The Scholarship Committee had a very difficult time selecting from the high caliber of work submitted. We thank each student who presented a portfolio for review. It was exciting to see advancement in all aspects of the work and the projects presented," said Phillip Block, Deputy Director for Programs and Director of Education, ICP.

The One-Year Certificate Programs in Documentary Photography and Photojournalism, led by Chair Alison Morley, and General Studies, led by Chair Marina Berio, provide advanced students with an intensive yearlong course of study that strengthens personal vision, teaches professional practices, and explores the many disciplines that inform media and art today.

About ICP

The International Center of Photography (ICP) was founded in 1974 by Cornell Capa as an institution dedicated to photography that occupies a vital and central place in contemporary culture as it reflects and influences social change. Through our museum, school, and community programs, we embrace photography's ability to open new opportunities for personal and aesthetic expression, transform popular culture, and continually evolve to incorporate new technologies. ICP has presented more than 500 exhibitions, bringing the work of more than 3,000 photographers and other artists to the public in one-person and group exhibitions and provided thousands of classes and workshops that have enriched tens of thousands of students.
